-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-5 and 7-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Molas (US 2002/0077618 A1) in view of Sturino (5,713,886).

Molas discloses all aspects of the claimed invention with the exception of a flap extending outwardly from each side edge. Molas discloses a sanitary napkin, as shown in figure 1, comprising a central absorbent pad having a liquid pervious cover layer, a liquid impervious barrier layer, and an absorbent core, as described on page 2, paragraph 0022. The central absorbent pad further comprises two bending lines 2 converging toward the longitudinal center line. A pair of side margins 4 and 5 are adjacent the bending lines 2 and adapted to fold along the lines. The napkin has a first, unfolded configuration for use in brief style undergarments, and a second, folded configuration for use in thong style undergarments, as described on page 3, paragraph 0033.

Sturino teaches the use of side flaps placed towards the front of a tapered sanitary napkin designed to be used with thong style undergarments, as shown in figure 1. The side flaps prevent leakage and improve the security of the attachment of the napkin to a garment. It would therefore be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to provide the napkin of Molas with the side flaps of Sturino to prevent leakage and improve attachment.

With respect to claims 2 and 3, the bending lines 2 extend from the second distal end at the lateral centerline to the first distal end, as shown in figure 1.

With respect to claims 4, 5, 8, and 9, Molas remains silent as to the dimensions of the sanitary napkin. However, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to make the first distal end between 15 and 20 mm and the lateral dimension between 10 and 20 mm, since it has been held that where the general conditions of the claim are disclosed in the prior art, finding the optimum or workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art. In re Allen, 105 USPQ 233.

With respect to claim 7, the side margins 4 and 5 has an adhesive attachment on the garment-facings side of the barrier layer, as described on page 3, paragraph 0037.

With respect to claim 10, the side margins 4 and 5 of the central absorbent pad are folded along the bending lines 2.

With respect to claim 11, the first configuration is an hourglass shape, as shown in figure 1, and when folded, the second configuration is a tapered shape.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-5 and 7-11 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
